TEACHING PLAN*Introduction

ATTENTION: Good afternoon and welcome to a quick review of parade and review officer staff positions.

MOTIVATION: N/A

OVERVIEW: Today's short lesson will cover the functions of squadron commanders, group commanders and staffs, and the commander of troops and staff.

TRANSITION: Cadet _____ will be your discussion leader today. Cadet _____, the class is all yours.

Body

MP 1 NOTE: Cadet _____ will lead a quick discussion of staff positions of a parade/review from squadron commander up to and including commander of troops. Each class member should be sufficiently knowledgeable, at this point in time, to adequately discuss any position on the field.

Discussion should include not only what each person does, but also their specific locations on the parade ground.

Conclusion

SUMMARY: During this period you have reviewed the positions of squadron commander up through commander of troops, showing their relative positions on the parade ground and describing each person's duties during a review/parade.

REMOTIVATION: This marks your final review of drill and ceremonies on the parade field. By your participation in all these classes, you have shown me that you can set up and run a review/parade with little or no assistance from personnel senior to you.

CLOSURE: Our next class will be a review of the forthcoming retreat ceremony at _____. Class is dismissed.
